

Access Other Offices

Help / Getting Started / Access Other Offices

When you log in to BuildVision, you always land in your root account. If you're a user of the parent organization and it has multiple offices, you can switch into any child office account from your profile — and switch back at any time.

01

STEP 01

Open your profile

Click your avatar initials in the bottom-left corner of the sidebar. A panel slides out showing your profile menu. Select My Profile to continue.

Step 01: The profile panel — select My Profile.

02

STEP 02

Switch into an office

Inside My Profile you'll see two sections. The top section — Root Account — shows your default account. Below it, Other Accounts lists every child office you have access to.

1. Find the office you want in the Other Accounts list.
2. Click the arrow icon on the right side of that row. This switches your active account to that child office immediately.
3. The account you switched into now appears at the top of the list. Switch back to your root account the same way.

Step 02: Root Account at the top, Other Accounts below — click the arrow on any row to switch.

STEP 03

Find all offices via Settings

For a full list of all offices and subsidiaries, go to Settings → Company. This view shows every office under your root account — including the office type, number of users, timezone, and address.

Step 03: Settings → Company shows every office and subsidiary. Click the arrow on any row to log directly into that office.
